

Josepmaria Anglès

Film & TV

I was born in Barcelona in 1991. At 15, I was given my first video camera (a JVC Mini DV). I started experimenting with editing software, which made me acquire the basics from an early age. I began to think that my professional vocation had something to do to with entertain and tell stories from the audiovisual language.

Following this intuition, I enrolled in Audiovisual Communication at the University of Navarre. I graduated in June 2013. Since then I have worked in television, film, online communication and, the most interesting, venture own projects.

As well as this, I had to become a versatile person, working in various sectors (pub staff, touristic guide...), which has been very rewarding to travel the world and open my imagination.
